A large majority of Palestinians living in the West Bank and Gaza Strip do not believe their leaders are doing enough to achieve a lasting two-state solution with Israel, according to a new poll. The poll, released on Wednesday by the Palestinian Centre for Policy and Survey Research, suggests that more than 90 percent of Palestinians - including more than 80 percent of Palestinians in the West Bank - do not believe their leaders are doing enough to achieve peace with Israel. The survey was conducted in January among a sample of 1,000 Palestinians, with a margin of error of 4 percentage points. In the Gaza Strip, only 30 percent said leaders are doing enough, while 75 percent said they were not. Only 7 percent of Gazans said they thought their leaders were doing enough, compared with 73 percent who said they are not. The political party of Palestinian Authority Prime Minister Rami Hamdallah, however, had the highest support - 78 percent of Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza Strip said they believe the PLO's Fatah party is b7e8fdf5c8

If you develop desktop or web applications, you need to get data from and to database. DBeaver helps you get data from database to generate HTML forms. Once you have your database data, you need to have a flexible and easy-to-use language to query the data to put it into reports, web pages or even use it in your application. DBeaver comes with a relational database editor which allows you to create database scripts and link tables together. This is not a GUI front-end to the MySQL database engine, it is its own GUI. DBeaver is not a GUI front-end to the SQL engine, it is its own SQL engine. There are many tools for editing and querying the data in databases.
